ACOUSTIC FAVORITE SPINS HIS STORIES, LIVE

RUTLAND, VT – Cinematic story-song troubadour Phil Henry, winner of multiple major national songwriting competitions, will be performing (SOLO or WITH HIS BAND) at (TIME) on (DAY OF WEEK, DATE) at (NAME OF VENUE) in (CITY, STATE).

His sweet, strong voice, sweeping vision and metronome-like right hand have impressed critics and judges around the country. He won coveted spots in the Grassy Hill Kerrville New Folk Competition, and the Falcon Ridge Folk Festival Emerging Artist Showcase. And he was the grand prize winner at the SolarFest songwriter showcase, as well as the Susquehanna Arts and Music Festival songwriting contest.

Henry is promoting his critically honored contemporary folk CD, “Aberdeen.” It’s a catchy collection of songs that puts a modern twist on the old-school folk tradition of Guthrie, Seeger and Ochs. The album debuted at #26 on a national folk deeJay list in November of 2014.

When he’s not performing, Henry, of central Vermont, teaches music at a local high school, conducting the chorus. He also builds instruments in his spare time, having recently completed the construction of a Irish bouzouki, or octave mandolin.

Henry has opened for such big names in folk music as Richard Shindell, Vance Gilbert, Peter Mulvey, Cliff Eberhardt, and Rachel Bissex. His music will appeal to fans of Paul Simon, Martin Sexton, Peter Mulvey and Richard Shindell.
